Vase

Date

c. 1760

Medium

porcelain

Description

A small porcelain footed vase with a pinched neck bulbous shoulder that tapers slightly and bulges back out. The vase is formed from green leaf-like applications on the neck and foot overlapping onto the body and two S-scrolls on the body. In the center of both sides is a scene of figures standing on the opposite shore of a town dominated by a church or clock tower on a river.
