Bicentennial Bandwagon

Date

1976

Primary Maker

Red Grooms

Medium

Screenprint on paper

Description
